

Community Rules

Last Update: October 20, 2023

For Physician is an ever-growing educational network with the contributions of healthcare professionals like you.

Community Rules below, For Physician It is designed to help you understand what it means to be a member of our community. For Physician Please note that all your activities on are subject to these Guidelines and our Terms of Service. This includes your comments, clinical cases, and posts.

Respect patients.

For Physician The patients shown in are real patients. These patients deserve to be treated with dignity and respect at all times. The same ethical principles you use in your practice For Physician Apply it to what you share on . Please For Physician Do not write anything you would not say in front of a patient.

Protect patient privacy at all times.

You should never include identifying patient information when creating a clinical case, post, or comment. For a list of identifiers, please see our Content Policy. Any clinical cases, posts or comments that violate this policy will be removed. As stated in our Terms of Service and FAQs, it is your responsibility to maintain patient confidentiality at all times.

When sharing a clinical case, share only your direct clinical experience.

For Physician Clinical case sharing is designed for healthcare professionals to share clinical information about patients in their direct care. It is not intended to be shared about your own medical conditions, the medical conditions of your family or friends, or medical conditions beyond the scope of your practice. This applies to clinical cases and interpretations of these cases.

Be kind to your community members.

For Physician is a respectful learning environment where healthcare professionals from many different backgrounds and countries come together to share their knowledge and learn from each other. For Physician Do not post any comments that do not help maintain a respectful learning environment at . For Physician Bullying and harassment are not tolerated at .

Keep comments professional.

For Physician As you contribute your questions and feedback to the clinical dialogue at , remember that this is a professional environment. Insensitive, obscene or unprofessional comments are inappropriate for this community and will be removed. If you wouldn't say it in front of a patient, please don't say it here.

Support your contributions with data.

While we recognize that not all treatments have been tested in clinical trials, For Physician Clinical information and discussion in should have a scientific basis. Failure to provide adequate support and data when requested may result in removal of your clinical case or review.

Avoid sharing promotional content.

For PhysicianAll activities in must serve the purpose of advancing medical knowledge. Healthcare professionals can tell the community about a project they are working on, but spamming the community for commercial or fundraising purposes is not allowed. Your organizationFor PhysicianPlease contact us if you would like to learn about promotional opportunities in; We would be happy to connect you with a member of our Business Development team.

Give credit where credit is due.

Articles, news, peer-reviewed publications, etc. We encourage sharing of helpful resources, as long as they are relevant, publicly available, and cited accordingly.

For PhysicianIf you've found value in a clinical case or interactive content from , please use our built-in sharing function to send it to your colleagues and peers.For PhysicianTaking screenshots of a clinical case, comment, or any other contribution from and sharing them elsewhere without crediting the source is a violation of our Terms of Service.

Share content relevant to the community.

For Physician is primarily an educational platform, so we welcome content that teaches your fellow members. Share anonymous patient stories without images, discuss a new medical technology being used at your institution, ask questions about procedures and protocols, suggest discussion topics, ask relevant questions, or share other topics you've learned that you think our community would benefit from. As always, we do not allow asking easily researchable questions or assignments, attacks on specific professions or colleagues, screenshots from other platforms or forums, or personal questions.

These Guidelines,For Physician We have prepared it to ensure that everyone in the community can participate in meaningful educational sharing. If you don't feel like you can follow our Community Guidelines outlined aboveFor Physician It may not be right for you.

If you see something that you think violates any of our rules, please help us by using our built-in reporting function in the app. We have a global team that reviews these reports and works to remove any content that violates our Guidelines.

If you have any questions or comments, we'd love to hear from you. Please feel free to email us at info@forphysician.net.

For Physician Team